

Cariboo Potters' Guild Newsletter

March 2019

“Creativity is allowing yourself to make mistakes. Art is knowing which ones to keep.”
Scott Adams.

Station House Show: Playful Nature... Opening reception Thursday April 4th at 5pm

By now we hope your show pieces are all fired up & ready to go. If not, time to start burning the midnight oil. Have fun with your titles!

It is a guild show and all members are encouraged to attend the opening. We also need lots of appies & sweet finger food to feed the guests so everyone needs to bring/send something. The Station House will provide a meat & cheese tray. Your food needs to be at the gallery by 4:45. Please email Buff to let her know you are bringing food.

Reminder...use Diane's live.com email to send her the titles, price, & mediums used for your pieces. If you sent it to the manager email it needs to be re-sent to Diane.toop@live.com.

Spring Sale. Saturday, May 11th

The sale is a day before Mothers' Day and a week after Seedy Saturday. Our theme will be POTS FOR PLANTS, POTS AND PLANTS or POTS, PLATES AND PLANTS...any other ideas? Just to jazz it up. So everyone should think of how plants and pots go together. Of course we all make mugs, plates, bowls etc. but if you have any plants you want to take cuttings from or seeds to start, do it in time for the sale. We could give a wee something when a person buys our pots. We will have balloons and maybe some fresh flowers for the vases. Or if you have houseplants that you want to get rid of. Cacti are taking over at Lesley's, so she will have several available.

It's time to be thinking of what you will make and how many tables you might need. This is our annual parking lot event.

Next meeting : Monday, April 1st. (No Fooling!)
Guild studio. 7:00pm

Demo: Barb will be showing how she creates sculptural heads. They own 'attitude'!!

Goodies: Cinde

Cleaners: Lesley & Donna

Photos:

1. A wheely gwate idea for making vertical test tiles
2. Handbuilt planter technique. Just remember to remove the bucket before the clay shrinks.

